Union President Reports To Student Affair Body

ALF HARPER RECOUNTS YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

To the Committee on Student Affairs:

It is my privilege this year to assist in the presentation of the annual report to the Committee on Student Affairs of the activities of the different organizations functioning under the Students' Union in 1944-45. I trust that the information and recommendations set forth in this report will be found useful by the new Students' Council.

This year Students' Union activity increased in several quarters and the opinion that University spirit increased was quite prevalent, all in all somewhat greater participation in student affairs was observed. This, doubtless, was due to a large extent to the optimism felt over the international situation, although this optimism was a little premature. Also, of course I felt that it was due in part at least, to council's efforts and enthusiasm.

A few of the highlights of the year included the return to the campus of a number of veterans of World War II, the return of a limited amount of interuniversity athletics, the revival of the McGoun debates, and the reorganization of the National Federation of Canadian University Students. The Philharmonic was not feasible, however, permission was granted for a Talent Show —The Varsity Show—which was sponsored directly by the Students' Union. The residences, which have been occupied by the R.C.A.F. for the past four years, were returned to the University this spring, and consequently the gym was available for the basketball series and the final house dance.

Before proceeding further, it would be a serious oversight were I not to express my appreciation for the co-operation and assistance received during the year from the University Administration. I would like to take this opportunity to mention a few in particular whose advice has been most helpful. Dr. Robert Newton, the President, has been very patient and understanding throughout the term. He has dealt very fairly and satisfactorily with all controversial student problems, and this broadmindedness, which in fact has been much more consistent than that of many of the students, has been deeply appreciated. To Mr. MacEachran, the Provost, and Mr. West, the Bursar, I would also like to express my thanks for their willing guidance and assistance during the year. Mr. King, the executive assistant to the President, has on numerous occasions found time to discuss student affairs, and his advice and assistance have been invaluable.

The Students' Council, which has worked very conscientiously and with the interests of the student body at heart, have at all times been very co-operative. The list of Council members and other members of the Students' Union who deserve mention would be quite overwhelming, but I would like to thank in particular Bill Clark, the treasurer, for his unfaltering assistance, judgment and conscientiousness, which have been so valuable, and also Hu Harries for his undaunted criticism, thoroughness and spirit of service.

A few words regarding fraternities and sororities, or girls' fraternities as they prefer to be called at Alberta, would not be out of place. Rushing was postponed until after Freshman Introduction, a move which proved very helpful to the Freshman Introduction Committee, and which would be a sound policy to continue. A certain amount of friction with sorority functions occurred early in the term, but this was ironed out, and throughout the remainder of the term these groups were most helpful, assisting readily when called on to do so. There can be but little doubt that the fraternity relationship with the Students' Union was of the best during the year.

During this term, also, I feel that the relationship between the University administrative authorities and the Students' Union has been strengthened and better understanding achieved. The responsibility for controlling signs, and the public address system for advertising, has been left to the discretion of the Students' Council Executive. Two members of Council have been added to the Committee on Grounds and Buildings, and through co-operation of both students and staff it is hoped that something may be accomplished toward fostering pride in the University buildings and grounds. I feel that by co-operation of this nature, by wider publication of University and Students' Union action, the University requesting Students' Council advice on certain problems, and by the Students' Council asking the advice of the Committee on Student Affairs on other problems, greater harmony can be achieved. I would recommend that at least four meetings of the Committee on Student Affairs be held during the year, that more problems be taken to the Committee by Council members, and that more suggestions be given to Council by the faculty members.

Student Union General Administration and Organization

One of the foremost difficulties during the year has been the hours of business and the location of the Students' Union officers. At the beginning of the term these offices, which are behind the stage in Convocation Hall, were moved up one floor, and although an extra room was obtained, inaccessibility was somewhat increased. The office hours, however, have been regularized, and the Students' Union offices are open from 9:00 to 12:00 a.m. and from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m., as are the University offices. These hours as long as they are kept regular prove satisfactory to students, but it would be advisable, if the opportunity is presented, to move the offices to one of the wings of the I.T.S. Drill Hall, since this would permit centralization of all Students' Union offices, and with the return of the residences would be quite central to the students.

Outstanding Military Figures Were Former Alberta Students

Three outstanding military figures, representing the army, air force and navy, were former students at the University of Alberta. Like many other graduates and undergraduates, they have played their part in the war, bringing special significance to the large number of former students who have carried Canada's name to the war fronts all over the world.

Brig. W. S. Ziegler, D.S.O., 34, a former undergraduate, has had a meteoric army career. He was active with the reserve army before war broke out and immediately enlisted.

In June, 1942, he became a Lieutenant-Colonel in command of a field battery. In November, 1942, he was in command of a Canadian field regiment, and shortly after became a full colonel. He became a brigadier in February, 1944. Born in Calgary, he attended high school there, and later came to University. He won the D.S.O. during the Canadian advance up the Liri Valley in Italy. His wife, the former Miss Mildred Dean, lives in Edmonton .

Group Captain Don "Tiny" Ferris, D.F.C., 34, was another former student at the University of Alberta. One of the province's most colorful figures, Don Ferris became famous as "the fur-capped wing commander," the leader of the famous R. C. A. F. "Goose" squadron in Europe. While at University Group Captain Ferris spent his summers as a Rocky Mountain guide. Later, he spent a few years on the ranches in Southern Alberta, and then plunged into the northland as a prospector. In 1936, he learned to fly from the bush pilots at Great Bear Lake, while traffic manager of the Mackenzie Air Service. In 1943 he was awarded the D.F.C. for "great courage and skill' having set "a most inspiring example". He had been on 18 operational trips at that time. His mother, Mrs. W. D. Ferris, lives in Edmonton.

Lieut. John H. Corbett, 25, a graduate in Law, received special mention in dispatches for his part in the running surface battle with an enemy U-boat while serving on H. M. C. S. Annan. The U-boat was finally sent to the bottom with 54 rounds of four-inch gunfire and depth charges. Lieutenant Corbett received the Judge Greene silver medal in law, the Carswell prize, and the National Trust prize. He also received a first-class general standing. Enlisting in 1942, he served on H.M.C.S. Moose Jaw until he was transferred to H.M.C.S. Annan. His wife, the former Nora McPhail, is also a former graduate, and at present it attached to the University staff.

Over Five Years of War Sees Many Varsity Changes

1,800 GRADUATES AND STUDENTS JOIN ARMED SERVICES

University Geared to Wartime Study

During the six years of war the University of Alberta became a hornet's nest of study, preparing students for both war and the post-war period. Over 1,800 University of Alberta students and graduates joined the armed forces. Many left their studies to do so, too impatient, afraid the war would end before they got their chance. Many of them were killed. Many others were taken prisoners. Others were decorated.

It was two years after Canada declared war before the University put itself on a war footing. In the fall of 1940, Col. Warren organized the largest military scheme ever seen on the campus, with a sober warning to all male students that this was war, and that the military training would be conducted on that basis. That year students began military drill in earnest. By spring, eight companies were uniformed and equipped. That spring, all eight companies, the largest number ever sent from the University, went to Camp Sarcee—the training grounds of the famous Calgary Highlanders. After camp, large numbers of potential officers left for special officers' training schools.

That same spring saw the last of the fashionable full-dress suits, with their tails and white ties, at the elaborate dances in Athabasca Hall. Even the moderate tuxedo disappeared. In the fall of 1941, the military authorities took over large parts of the University. The Royal Canadian Air Force took over all the residence and the huge Normal School. Students and airmen rubbed shoulders at every turn, and Tuck was overcrowded all the time. The big rugby games with the huge bonfires and pep rallies and elaborate parades down Jasper Avenue, were replaced with military parades and marching students.

The Royal Canadian Navy took over St. Joseph's College; the Army occupied St. Stephen's College. When the Americans came, the congestion became even worse. The American Army occupied parts of St. Joseph's College, and Canadian nurses took up residence in St. Stephen's College.

Many of the professors enlisted, or re-enlisted. Others started in the ranks of the C.O.T.C. When the University Air Training Corps and the University Naval Training Division were formed, other professors enlisted as instructors. Still more were lent to the government for important war work. Others at the University threw themselves wholeheartedly into war work. Research was advanced, a special gas testing plant was erected, the blood serum separating plant for the province was set up in the Medical Building under the biochemistry department.

Speed-up courses in medicine and dentistry were instituted to turn out more doctors and dentists for the Canadian armed forces. Engineers who graduated went into the armed forces, or were put by the bureau of technical personnel into essential civilian jobs. In the summer hundreds of students flocked northward to work on the Alaska Highway or the Canol Oil project. Others worked in chemical plants, mines, on ships and on farms. There were no summer vacations, as on every side there was work to be done.

The requirements in the courses were drastically raised. Students dropped extra-curricular work, and had to burn the midnight oil. The women took military training also, and marched and drilled, and learned how to shoot. In the afternoons and evenings many co-eds would be working in the canteens, and the social life dwindled. Students took time out to raise maney, bought and gave an ambulance to the army, bought a mobile canteen and hospital equipment, bought Victory bonds and performed other war services. On top of it all, they helped prepare plans to welcome returning men, to encourage them to come back to civilian studies.

And now, finally, thousands of returned men will be coming to University, and millions of dollars will be spent by the provincial government on buildings and equipment to enlarge the University to meet the post war requirements. Although other students will go on to finish the war in the East, the great day of Victory in Europe means the end of the war-time University in Alberta. Next year will see a better and far larger University to serve the peacetime needs of the province.

Graduates Leave With New Spirit

We're looking forward, hopefully, to the day of graduation and the many days that follow out in The World—but our hopefulness bears a faint tingle of regret. For three or four long years we have been sheltered here between the walls of higher learning. We've had our hours of torture and pleasure—but through them all, we've had our fellow students to bolster and uphold us.

With them we've borne with a smile the indignities of Freshman week; we've cheered our voices away at rugby games and basketball tourneys; we've spent long, golden hours in the cafeteria or over milk shades at Tuck, thoughtfully shaping the destiny of future generations; we've brow-beaten them into buying a button for War Services or a tip for I.S.S.; we've tramped the long weary hours of drill. We've shared laughs at the Variety Show and hot dogs at the Outdoor Club; we've tripped the light fantastic at the Froph and House Dances. We've slept peacefully through dull lectures and listened carefully to great words of wisdom. Yes, we've laughedh and worked and played together.

We're going out—but wo do not leave it all behind. We'll take with us our memories and the thought that you, the undergrads, are carrying on as we before you. We'll take with us the spirit and philosophy we've worked out here—the spirit and philosophy of Alberta that we are committed to develop with our practical knowledge, our music, our sportsmanship, our laughter.

McDougall Church Scene Of Graduation Ceremony

Graduation Ball in Macdonald Hotel

Three hundred and fifty-one students will receive degrees, diplomas or certificates at next Tuesday's annual University of Alberta convocation ceremony in McDougall United church.

The new list of 164 students to graduate included engineering, nursing, education and pharmacy.

This year's graduating class is more than 100 students less than last year, when 465 received their degrees. Reason for the decline is that no medical or dental students graduate this May. They received their degrees in January due to a speed-up course.

A number of activities have been planned for graduation. On Sunday evening, a Baccalaureate Service will be held in Convocation Hall at 7:30 p.m. On Monday, Valedictory Exercises and the Founder's Day Ceremony will be held at the Arts Building beginning at 2:30 p.m. The Alumni Banquet will be in the University cafeteria at 7:00 p.m. and later an informal dance in Convocation Hall.

The Convocation ceremony will take place in McDougall United Church on Tuesday afternoon at 1.45 p.m. In the evening the Graduation Ball takes place in the Macdonald hotel. The dress is semi-formal, and corsages may be worn. Tickets for the ball will be on sale in the Arts Rotunda on Monday and Tuesday, May 14-15.

Mr. Frank Quigley, the President of the Senior Class is in charge of arrangements. Assisting him will be Alice Stewart-Irvine, John Nicholls, Beatrice Grant, Bob Robertson and Jack Longworth.

Evergreen & Gold Ready In June

The Evergreen and Gold will not be ready until June, according to the latest information received by the Gateway. It is expected that the yearbook will be mailed to the students at that time.

The Evergreen and Gold is done in brown this year and features a number of full-page photographs. The photographs are all very clear and the engraving looks very smart. Housez Studios made the cuts this year, and Douglas Printing Company will do the printing and binding.

The fraternity section includes attractive drawings of the various fraternity houses, and a number of informal photos of some of the activities. In a number of the sections, clippings and descriptions of the events taken from the Gateway have been photographed along with the picture of the event, and included in the yearbook.

Colin Corkum, the director, has tried to put out a yearbook that is not only smart, but also original. From all appearances, he has accomplished this.

The original plan was to try and have the yearbook out before the students left in the spring, but there have been a number of delays, which makes it necessary to set the date forward.

REAR ADMIRAL STEPHENS

Admiral to Speak At Convocation

Engineer Rear Admiral G. L. Stephens, C.B.E., chief of naval engineering and construction, Ottawa, will speak at the annual graduation ceremonies of the University of Alberta in McDougall United church, Tuesday, May 15.

Rear Admiral Stephens is a native of Plympton, Devon, England, and a son of George Sellick Stephens, a timber merchant. He was educated in Devonport and when he was 13 began his training in naval engineering at H.M. Dockyard, Devenport. Eight years later, in 1910, he joined the Royal Canadian Navy as an engine room artificer.

He was promoted to warrant rank in 1912 and received a commission as engineer lieutenant in 1915. He served throughout the last war and since has served on many ships of the Royal and Canadian navies and has been senior engineer officer at both Halifax and Esquimalt.

When the destroyers Skeena and Saguenay were built in England for Canada, he was assistant overseer for construction, representing the R.C.N. His appointment as engineer-in-chief came in 1941 and his promotion to his present rank in January, 1943. He was decorated in a recent King's honours list.

Polish Arts and Science Institute Sponsors Canadian Essay Contest

The Polish Institute of Arts and Sciences, Canadian Branch, is conducting an annual essay contest in the field of Polish history and culture.

The terms of the contest are as follows:

(1) The essay should deal with any aspect of Polish history, literature, fine art, education, sociology, economics, civics and social socience, as well as with the problems of Polish emigration, the history of Poles in Canada, including biographies or prominent Canadians of Polish origin and their contributions to their adopted country, the possibilities of development of Canadian-Polish post-war relations and similar subjects.

(2) The contest is open to University students all over Canada and all residents of Canada who may be interested in the subject, irrespective of nationality or citizenship.

(3) The prizes will be awarded for papers showing original, unpublished research, written in English or French. The essay should be submitted in three typewritten copies and signed with a nom de plume. There should be enclosed a sealed envelope marked with the same nom de plume as the paper, containing the name and address of the author. Of these sealed envelopes only those which have received prizes will be opened.

(4) The essays must be submitted by November 15, 1945 (address: Polish Institute of Arts and Sciences, Canadian Branch, McGill University, Montreal, Que.). Those sent in by mail will be considered as handed in on the date of the postmark.

(5) A special committee appointed for the purpose will act as judges.

(6) Two prizes will be awarded: $100 and $50.

(7) The Institute reserves the right to publish in its Bulletin the essays to which prizes have been awarded.

(8) All the papers sent in will be kept in the files of the Institute, and will not be returned to the authors.

(9) Should the author wish to publish his work outside of the Bulletin of the Institute, an arrangement to that effect should be made between the Institute and the author.

(10) The results of the contest will be published not later than December 31st, 1945.

(11) The authors of the essays receiving prizes will be notified individually by letter.

In 1944 two prizes have been awarded: $100 to Miss Phyllis Jowett, Aultsville, Ont., for her essay, "Poland at War," and $50 to Mlle. Madeline Plouffe, North Bay, Ont., for her essay "Histoire de la Pologne."

For further information, write to the Institute's office, McGill University, Sherbrooke St. W., Montreal, Que.

FINAL EXAMINATION RESULTS, 1945

THE GATEWAY
Editor .... Don Cormie
Business Manager .... Roger Belzil

Students failing in one or more subjects will receive notification from the Registrar as to their eligibility for supplemental examinations. This notice will be mailed to the home address of the student as specified on his registration form. Those who are eligible for and wish to write the supplemental or deferred final examinations must apply to the Registrar before August 15th, 1945. In addition to the examination fee of $5.00 per subject, a penalty of $5.00 will be imposed on all applications received after August 15th. Moreover, such late applications may not necessarily be accepted.

The time-table for supplemental examinations is issued on August 31st; any candidate whose application has been accepted and who has not received a time-table by September 5th should write immediately to the Registrar.

Report of the Union President

An attempt was made to set up a suitable filing system for correspondence and reports, but a good deal still remains to be done on this project. Council did approve the inauguration of a Students' Union registration, similar to that of the University, which, when put into operation next fall, should greatly facilitate the compiling of voters' lists, the telephone directory, the index and student lists for the yearbook. Provision was made also for a record of the activities of Students' Union members so that points may be allotted and awards made without the necessity of applications. An appropriation ledger compiled by the treasurer, Bill Clark, will greatly simplify budgetary control, and will also enable the treasurer to tell at a glance the exact income and expenditure of any Students' Union organization.

The Students' Union building program was advanced somewhat during the year. Since the building fund is approaching the $50,000.00 mark, and since a building program for the University has been outlined, it was felt advisable to take some action to assure that the building be constructed as soon as possible. The proposal that the building be built at a cost of $150,000.00 with the government sharing the cost equally with the Students' Union has been advanced. The consulting architect of the University is at present drawing up rough plans of the building.

Capital investments during the year include a desk, a safe, three filing cabinets, one for the Students' Union, one for the year book, and one for The Gateway. An elaborate stand for the choir which will greatly facilitate the concerts sponsored by them was also bought. A public address system, the cost of which was shared with the University, was added to capital investment.

This year, too, the N.F.C.U.S. was reorganized. The president of the Students' Union, who was the delegate, spent three days during the Christmas holidays in London, Ont., attending the organization meetings. The main purpose of the Conference was to lay the groundwork for future action, and to foster greater cooperation between student organizations all across Canada. A very satisfactory plan was set out, and in subsequent years this organization should once again function in sponsoring exchange scholarships, holding interuniversity competitions, and in assuring unity of approach to common problems.

War Services

Therapy Unit Drive

The major drive this year was for the purchase of a skin-therapy unit for the Colonel Mewburn wing of the University Hospital. It was felt that this donation would benefit returned men and would also be quite near the campus, so that its value might be appreciated. The objective of the drive was set at $1,500, and Chairman Al Ross, with a very capable committee, attained this objective during the one week campaign. This drive was noteworthy in that signing over caution money and army pay were almost unnecessary. The check for $1,500 was presented to Dr. MsGugan, the Hospital Superintendent, at the final performance of the Varsity Show.

Christmas Fund Drive

The Christmas Fund Committee, headed by Bob Pulleyblank, surpassed their objective of $400 in good time. Although they did manage to surpass their monetary objective and also gathered a number of donations of clothing from the Wauneita Society, the Nurses' organization and certain other women's organization, they overspent their income by approximately $140. This was made up from the War Services Fund. The proceeds of the drive were used to supply hampers which were sent to the various district nurses in Northern Alberta. All these hampers were very gratefully acknowledged.

I.S.S.

The I.S.S. Committee, under Jack Pritchard, met with several difficulties while attempting to set the date for their drive, eventually, however, it was held during the week of the Saskatchewan basketball series. The highlight of the drive was a tie auction, held whenever enough students were present to bid for the ties; the girls, not to be outdone, auctioned hair ribbons. This novel idea, together with a tag day and individual subscriptions, netted the committee the $300 which was set as their objective.

Blood Donors

Nine hundred and ten University students enrolled this fall during the campaign staged by Jim Metcalf and his Blood Donor Committee of nurses and medical students. Their work was commendable, and the drive was one of the most efficient that has been held on the campus in many years. Although, as yet, just over 400 people have been asked to give donations, nevertheless the number signifying their willingness is noteworthy.

Magazine Drive

The magazine drive, conducted by the Dental Undergraduate Society, did not meet with as great a response as it has previously. This was felt to some extent to be due to the very limited publicity received from The Gateway. Nevertheless, under the direction of Harry Jones, the Dents did collect some 2,000 magazines, which will be quite a substantial contribution to our armed forces distribution centres.

Alumnae Cigarette Fund

A drive headed by Hu Harries netted over $400. This sum, which was collected entirely from the campus service organizations, was turned over to the Edmonton Alumni Association to be used for sending cigarettes to Alumni overseas.

Poppy Day.

Under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, and with the co-operation of the Wauneita Society, Poppy Day was again commemorated on the campus, and a small sum donated toward the assistance of returned veterans.

War Contact Fund

The contact fund was eliminated this year due to the paper shortage, and in its place a request that Gateways be sent on to members of the armed forces was emphasized. A good deal more publicity of this nature would not be out of order.

General

Council this year, in view of the time consuming drives spread throughout the year, recommended that a community chest organization be set up to stage an all out one-week drive, with an objective set by Council, the money to be distributed as the committee sees fit. This arrangement will solve a good many of the difficulties at present confronting the war services committee.

Social Functions

House Dance

House dances this year were under the supervision of a house dance committee, but each dance was sponsored individually by some campus organization. The plan worked quite well, and one or two of the dances sustained losses, actually a small surplus was obtained on the house dances. A little more supervision would be quite in order on the dances, more discrimination in choosing sponsors, and better coordination between the sponsor and the house dance committee. Athabasca gymnasium was obtained for the final dance. and it is felt that this hall is more suitable for these dances than is Convocation Hall.

Class Dances

The number of major dances remained the same as it has during the past few years. These dances were quite well attendd, and with th exception of the Senior Prom, returned a surplus to the Students' Union. The deficit of the Senior Prom, however, more than counterbalanced the surplusses from the other class dances.

Color Night

Color Night, as previously, was perhaps the most noteworthy formal function of the year. The committee in charge planned a very enjoyable evening which was a very suitable climax for the year's activities. This function, as was expected, showed a deficit despite the slight increase in price over last year. Attendance also was slightly reduced due to the number of activities held during that week. It is suggested that no function other than the election be held during the week of Color Night.

Waw-Waw

A committee directed by Doug Love sponsored a very enjoyable program including a theatre party, and house dance for Waw-Waw week-end or Sadie Hawkins, as it is perhaps better known. These Waw-Waw functions have always been highly successful since the girls, it would appear, appreciate an opportunity to get a little of their own back. This is one of the activities that helps to maintain the spirit that is so often discussed on the campus.

General

Conduct at all social functions has been, as far as I have been able to discern, very noteworthy. Neither the Provost nor the Disciplinary Committee have been occupied with breaches in behavior at any of the year's social functions.

The Rink

The weather this year and optimism over the C.O.T.C. Drill Hall prevented an early start being made on the rink. However, during the Christmas holidays, Mr. Stan Moher and Mr. Gordon Proctor, the rink managers, were able to put the open rink at the end into suitable shape for hockey. The rink opening arranged with the co-operation of the M.A.B., was certainly the most elaborate opening in some years. The rink was very suitable for both skating and hockey from January 1st to March 1st, but has never been over popular with the student skaters. Now that the return of the covered rink appears probable, Council should be prepared to appoint a covered rink committee very shortly in order that the preparations required may be undertaken.

Christian Mission

The Christian Mission, which was largely student planned and student sponsored, was not as well attended as that of last year. This may be partially accounted for by the conflict of certain events during that period; it was not, however, by any means a failure. The program this year was, as suggested last year, more a practical than a theoretical approach to Christian living. It was felt that the speakers were more down to earth than previously, and despite the lowered attendance the value of the undertaking was considered worth the effort required. A good deal of credit for the organization of the three day program is due to the splendid co-operation of Mr. Don Read, permant secretary of the Student Christian Movement.

Freshman Introduction

The Freshman Introduction Committee, headed by Ron Helmer, planned and executed one of the most novel Freshman Introduction weeks of the past few years. New items such as freshman court, the costumes, the use of the public address system for directing the freshies, and the freshman handbook were well received. Although the Freshman Introduction Committee exceeded their budget, their activities certainly made the freshies welcome. Little other than what has already been said regarding fraternity rushing can be recommended for future freshman introduction proceedings.

C.U.R.M.A.

The Canadian University Returned Men's Organization appeared on the campus this fall. The organization, which was quite small due to the few returned veterans here has undertaken a very large task. Its main aim is to assist in the rehabilitation of its members, to help them obtain suitable lodging, to assist them scholastically and to interest them in student affairs. Its scope was of necessity somewhat limited this year, but with a competent executive it should be of great value not only to the returned men, but also to the Students' Union. This organization can help immeasurably in overcoming the differences in outlook between returned service men and other students.

Elections

Class elections, held in the fall, helped to boost campus spirit. Council attempted to encourage nominations, and whether it was due to this encouragement or not it is difficult to say; nevertheless, there were very few acclamations. The campaigns held by the various candidates were quite extensive and were well received.

The Students' Union elections this spring was the quietest in some time. A little difficulty arose due to discrepancies in the voting system, and it was thought possible that a number of students had voted twice. Council deliberated for the best part of the evening of the election, and after careful consideration the election was declared valid, with the exception of Arts and Science Representative, for which the voters list was incomplete. It was recommended for future elections that campus "A" cards be punched at the time of voting. This will eliminate the possibility of double votes.

Open Meetings

The open meetings of the Students' Union were very orderly. The budget meeting held in the fall was somewhat poorly attended; however, for the first time in some years there was ample time for questions from the floor. Although attendance was down, a goodly number of questions indicated that those present were interested.

The final Students' Union meeting at which the candidates for elections were presented was without a doubt the most orderly that students now at University have seen. All candidates were given ample opportunity to speak, and what is more, all of them were heard.

Two other shorter meetings were held, one a reception for our victorious rugby team on their return from Saskatchewan, the other to receive the basketball teams on their return. These were quite well attended, and helped to show our teams that they were appreciated.

Athletics General

Athletics were given a great impetus due to the revival of certain interuniversity competitions. Both men's and women's basketball teams of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba met to determine the winner of the Cecil Race and the Rigby trophies. Earlier in the term Saskatchewan and Alberta played a return series for the Hardy rugby trophy. These competitions, which have been instrumental in fostering goodwill between Sask. and Alberta, have also helped to encourage a certain amount of University pride at Alberta. Much is to be said for the fellowship created by interuniversity athletics, and when travel rates makes it feasible, this program should be expanded once again.

The cheer squad which was organized this fall through the efforts of Ernie Cudby, was another organization which added to campus spirit. Again during the basketball series. Don Cormie's group of cheer leaders also helped add a little color to the games.

On the whole, interfaculty sports still hold a major role on the campus and gave a large number of students an opportunity to participate in some field of athletics. The interfaculty leagues which are student managed, have served as training grounds for potential athletes during the past few years, and have earned a permanent place in campus activities. Both the men's and women's athletic associations have encouraged these competitions.

Equipment has been very well handled this year. Hu Harries, central equipment manager, has been very efficient, and very little difficulty has been encountered in the equipment organization. Some emphasis, however, might be placed on the responsibility of the individual members for returning their equipment to the central check depot.

Again this year the heads of the various athletic organizations of the three Western Universities met at Saskatoon to discuss the plans for next year's intervarsity competitions. A one-day conference was held during which a tentative schedule was outlined. The amount of travelling proposed is very similar to that undertaken this year; however, it is hoped that an extra sport may be added to the list despite the fact that the actual amount of travelling is not being increased. The proposal which has been approved by the men's and women's athletic associations and Students' Council is to be presented to the War Services Training Board.

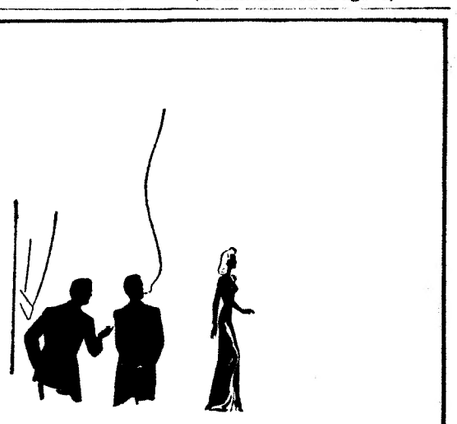

The track meet in early October is stated to have been one of the best attended meets in years. Organized by Mickey Hajash, Murray Stewart, Dorothy Ward and Lillian Gibson, it was well managed. The announcement of events over the public address system helped to keep the track fans well informed, although sveral events were run off simultaneously. Widespread publicity for subsequent events should assure good attendance. A little more attention might be paid to the condition of the track, however, since the preparation very nearly proved to be a severe obstacle to the meet.

Men's Athletics

This year has marked one of the most successful in the history of Men's Athletics at the U. of A. Both major and minor sports flourished, as also did interuniversity and interfaculty competition.

The University Golden Bears in a two-game series with the University of Saskatchewan regained the Hardy Trophy, emblematic of the W. C. I. A. U. rugby championship. The first game at Alberta was held at Clark Stadium with a record attendance of students. The gate receipts were not substantial, however, probably due to the 25 cent credit allowed on admissions to Campus "A" card holders. The second game at Saskatchewan gave the Golden Bears a clear victory and a gala week-end of entertainment provided by the Saskatchewan students.

The Golden Bears basketball team participated in Saskatchewan in a round robin series with Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and during that series won the Rigby trophy. The following week-end Saskatchewan visited Alberta, and again the Alberta team proved their mastery by defeating the Huskies in what actually amounted to two exhibition games in Athabasca gym.

The assault-at-arms, under Steele Browerton's direction, was also held in Athabasca gym. Although permission to use the gym was delayed until the last minute, and consequently advertising also was delayed, a good number of fans were in attendance. The events were well staged, and the boxers and wrestlers showed that they are able to maintain their condition despite the problems of finding a suitable gym for workouts.

The gymnasium for these clubs should present little difficulty with the return of the residences to the University.

Interfaculty competition flourished in rugby, hockey, basketball, and also in the track and field meet, swimming and the assault-at-arms. The engineers again defended the Bulletin Trophy with success.

One recommendation with regard to the M.A.A. might be suggested, and that is with regard to the awards. The problem here is not obvious until the athletics awards meeting in the spring, at which time it is too late to attempt a remedy. Some system similar to the executive points system would help to limit the number of awards, and would also help to increase the value of the awards made. It becomes very dull sitting through the latter portion of Color Night ceremony listening to the unending list of names, as it would if the list of all those earning points under the executive point system were read off. A committee with experience set up early in the year could possibly organize a suitable awards system based on this principle.

Bob Buckley and Archie Campbell, president and secretary respectively of the M.A.A., should be complimented for their year's work.

Women's Athletic Association

The highlight of Women's Athletics was like the men's in the interversity competition. The girls also took part in a three-way series at Saskatchewan with the deciding game played between the Saskatchewan Huskiettes and the U. of A. Pandas in Athabasca gym. The games here, although the Alberta girls lost by a narrow margin, were very interesting and exciting. A little more training and experience should assure us of a good chance at the trophy next year.

Interfaculty basketball and volleyball as well as interfaculty competition in many of the minor sports met with a good deal of enthusiasm. Tennis, fencing, track, archery and swimming all proved very popular. Education won the interfaculty championship.

The rise in attendance in women's athletics was doubtless in part due to the compulsory war hours required. Most of the girls, although they attended at first for the hours of credit, became interested and enthusiastic in the sport itself before long.

A good dal of credit for the fine work of the W.A.A. is owed to Lillian Gibson, the president, and Betty King, the secretary. Their enthusiasm and support went a long way toward assuring the girls of a successful year.

Literary Association

Dramatics

Once again no annual play was held. However, the Interyear Plays staged early in February are reported to have been among the best presented by the Dramatic Club. Capacity crowds attended both nights of the production, and very few left disappointed. Although not as elaborate as the annual play the Interyear Plays provide an opportunity for a greater number of students to participate in dramatics. Until such time as both productions may be held, the Interyear Plays are certainly the wiser choice.

Make-Up

The Make-Up Club, with Mr. Lawrence Fisher as president for his second term, has been a credit to the Literary Association. Their efforts are not by any means confined to a single club, but are offered to any stage production desirous of make-up. This year the Interyear Plays and the Varsity Show occupied the major portion of their time. In both these productions the professional manner in which the casts were made up demonstrated well the training received from Mrs. MacDonald.

Political Science

The Political Science Club this year suffered a number of setbacks due to conflicting dates and the problem of obtaining suitable speakers. Only one or two open meetings were held, and attendance was low. The program of political speakers held two years ago has been highlly recommended, and it would doubtless be a very valuable addition to student activities if these meetings might be further expanded. In the past, at several of the Political Science meetings, the amphitheatres have been packed. An attempt to repeat such a performanc should be made.

Debating and Public Speaking

Although attendance in the Debating Society was at a low ebb, Ernie Gander, the president guided the Society through to a year of high endeavor. Two debating teams competed in the McGoun cup debates, both winning their respective competitions by substantial margins. Thus the McGoun Cup was retrieved this year by the U. of A. Interfaculty debates were by-passed this year due largely to the limitation placed on the students by wartime regulations. Also, since the majority of those interested in debating are occupied with at least one or two other campus jobs, it has been difficult to attempt these debates. The trophy previously held by the Faculty of Law has been forfeited, and is now up for open competition.

Toward the end of the year the Public Speaking and Debating societies combined their efforts in order to sponsor open forums on topics pertinent to the present round table discussions over CKUA. A continuation of this type of activity is to be recommended since it not only aids in teaching public speaking, but also has a definite educational value for both students and radio audiences.

Musical Association

The Choir

The Choir, directed by Gordon Clark, staged one of the finest musical productions to be presented at the University. This performance on their part merits them ample consideration when next year's budget is being drawn up. Starting with very little, the Choir has this year begun to build a very worthy library of music. This effort should be continued in the future, and consideration should also be given to some method of recognizing the value of the directors services.

The Musical Club

The Musical Club, an old standby on the campus, was this year made part of the Musical Association of the Students' Union. Its programs, held once a month, have always been a source of pleasure to lovers of classical music both at University and in the Garneau district. Their final meeting, held in Med 158, consisted of showing a film on symphony orchestras. This picture, which demonstrated very well the organization of a large orchestra, is one which students, whether or not they understood music, find highly enjoyable.

Next year it is recommended that instead of membership cards, the Musical Club be permitted to sell season tickets, with a 25 cent reduction being offered to Students' Union members.

The Varsity Show

This production permitted by the University since it did not require the rehearsal time required by the Philharmonic was staged as a Students' Union endeavor, not directly under the Literary or Musical societies. It was begun as a Talent Night and under the direction of Joe Shoctor a certain amount of continuity was obtained. The show lacked a certain amount of continuity, but since it was staged as an opportunity for those with talent to display it, the numbers for the most part were individual ones. It was extremely well received by the students, despite the fact that the quality of the production was not as good as may have been desired. Considering, however, that over a hundred persons participated, and that just over two months were given to the show, with a week out for February exams, the general student impression is that it was one of the outstanding features of the year. The students are aware of the failings of the show, but with more time and guidance these could be overcome.

If further shows of this nature are held, somewhat more time and planning will be necessary with perhaps a reasonable amount of faculty advice since it is too much to ask a student to direct and manage such a production. Students are definitely interested in the more modern type of music, and if the quality of such a musical production can be assured, it might be plausible to alternate on a three-year schedule, a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, an operetta of a more classical nature and a modern musical production. Young people of the present day are interested deeply in popular music before entering University, while here their interest does not wane, and besides being given ample opportunity to appreciate more classical works they appreciate listening to something in the nature of a popular concert.

The Wauneita Society

Miss Muriel MacDonald guided the Wauneita Society through a year of financial and social success, beginning in the fall with Freshman Introduction and the Wauneita Initiation, carried through to the Wauneita formal, and finally ending with the Wauneita banquet in the cafeteria. The Wauneita Society have throughout the year been ready to accept their share of responsibility on every occasion. They organized the Poppy Day at the University, held a reception for members of the Christian Mission team, assisted in the Christmas Fund drive, and held a tea to raise funds for I.S.S. Without a doubt, a good deal of the credit for a very enterprising year is due to the leadership of Miss Muriel MacDonald.

Publications

The Year Book

Collin Corkum, the E. and G. Director, with the assistance of a much enlarged and very capable staff, promises to present a fine year book for the silver anniversary of that publication. The innovation this fall of taking student pictures right on the campus is to be lauded, since it not only saves students' time, but also ensures that the number of student pictures appearing in the book will be close to the maximum. This year candid pictures have been greatly increased, thanks to the untiring efforts of the photographic staff of Bob and Doug Gray. Many new ideas have been incorporated in the book, and if the proofs are any indication of the final product, the success of this year's work is assured.

The engraving contract given to Housez Ltd. at a somewhat higher price than previously, has certainly resulted in increased service, and has proven the wisdom of the choice. The practise followed previously of accepting the lowest bidder in the letting of contracts, in this instance at least, has been proven in error.

The Orphan was continued this year as a means of publicizing the E. & G. efforts. Much is to be said in favor of the novelty of this method of advertising; on the other hand, however, due to the material used as filler, when advertising is at a minimum has given rise to one or two very unpleasant situations. Either more rigid control of this publication is to be desired or else incorporation in The Gateway.

Provincial News

The Provincial News Department was carried along in more or less haphazard manner for the first three months of the term. However, after Christmas with Helen Plasteras as director, the Provincial News report was broadcast regularly each week. Further, a new item was added in the form of panel discussions sponsored by the Public Speaking and Debating Club. These, beginning at the end of the year and receiving very little publicity, were not widely discussed and criticized. The idea is excellent, and should be started earlier in the year. Under the proper guidance and with a little good criticism, the radio efforts of the Students' Union might be quite widely extended. One thing to keep in mind is that the station is part of the Extension Department, and all programs presented should be of value to the general public as well as to the student body. Another program which was well received this year was the Christmas Fund request broadcast, which netted the committee a reasonable sum.

Constitutional Changes

This year the Musical Society was made a separate body since it was felt that those interested in musical endeavor held views quite divergent to those of the Dramatics and Debating students. The organization of the association was made very similar to that of the Literary, and each society was given a seat on Council instead of the two previously held by the Literary. In this manner it is hoped that musical and literary enthusiasm may be increased.

The Provincial News Department, which was removed, has been replaced by a radio directorate which it is hoped will increase the interest in sponsoring programs over the University broadcasting station.

Color Night has been made a major function and provision for the time of this function set out constitutionally.

The appointment of Evergreen and Gold director has been moved a month ahead to enable him to begin his work at an earlier date.

An amendment to reduce the Nurses' Students' Union fees has been approved, and also nurses are to be provided with Campus "A" cards.

The publication of the telephone handbook has been changed so that the handbook will be published with the constitution and the telephone directory as a separate booklet.

Certain minor changes were made to provide the athletic associations with more suitable guidance, and certain of the outmoded standing regulations have been deleted.

An amendment removing the money honorariums from the constitution was approved, these to be replaced by suitable gifts for the various people in executive positions after considerations by Council at the end of the year. These gifts are to be presented at Color Night.

A minor amendment making it necessary to punch Campus "A" cards at the time of voting was also approved.

This year, despite the increased interest in extra-curricular activities, there are still too few people doing too many of the jobs which are required to make our Students' Union function properly. Any program which will encourage more people to accept minor executive positions is to be recommended.

Responsibility too has to be more strongly emphasized. The tendency to overlook the duties of the positions which are accepted is prevalent. Attendance at meetings, deadlines for publications, duties which are of importance are not given the attention they deserve in far too many instances. Through Gateway inquiry and condemnation, perhaps this feeling of responsibility can be fostered.

Not only students in executive positions overlook their responsibility, but also many other members of the student body. The co-operation needed from the students to keep them walking in the paths, to keep election campaign within plausible limits, and in keeping signs on the bulletin boards is lacking. Always there appears to be a small group that will not realize that these oversights on the part of a few result in restrictions for all. All too often, also, these people are the ones who complain the loudest about the regulations which must be imposed due to their lack of responsibility.

Respectfully submitted,
ALFRED E. HARPER,
President, Students' Union.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, The Gateway.

Dear Editor:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the Students' Union for the lovely gift which was presented to me as I left the employ of the Union at the end of January. This table is very beautiful, and occupies a very definite place in our home. I do think Doris Tanner and Muriel Macdonald should be complimented on their very good taste.

I wish to thank Mr. West, Mr. King, Miss Winspear, the girls in the Bursar's office, Mrs. Donnan, Bill Wotherspoon, Bill Hudson and his gang, the Book Store and Post Office and the Students Union executives and presidents of clubs, who extended to me friendship along with a fine spirit of co-operation during my period of employment at the University of Alberta. It was with sincere regret that I decided that I must leave.

Congratulations certainly go to the U. of A. this year for the cups and awards they have captured. I do think some of this credit goes to Stan Moher for the fine effort and countless hours he has spent on behalf of U. of A. sportsmanship. Lillian Gibson and Bob Buckley certainly did a splendid job of carrying the heavy load of President of Women's and Men's Athletics. Color Night must have been a wonderful night this year!

As I left the University, I felt somehow like the graduate who slaves on from four to seven years toward the day when at last he will be finished, and his years of work are over. Convocation finally arrives; it is all very beautiful and exciting, just as he pictured it to be—the mad dash to secure a mortar board and a gown that will come to at least the knees, the Alumni banquet in honor of the graduands, the tea in Con Hall, the graduation exercises, and finally the wonderful graduation ball. But the next day, after gowns and caps have been returned, and as he begins to descend the steps of the Arts Building, he experiences a horrible and empty feeling, as he suddenly realizes that he doesn't "belong" any more.

But the U. of A. grads have a wonderful way to overcome the thought, because just as he goes to leave, the doors opens, and out rushes that familiar figure, complete with smile and spectacles—yes, it's Mr. Taylor, and he places his hand on the shoulder of the grad and says, "Oh, no, that's not true, I heard what you were thinking, you do belong, you belong to the Alumni Association of the University of Alberta."

Wonderful, isn't it?

Well, I guess this is all, and thanks again for everything.

Sincerely,
MURIEL WYLIE.

Congratulations to the GRADUATES

You are on your own now; no longer Students, but part of that great World of Opportunity!
